

Acting & Audition Coaching:

Whether you want to learn to act, brush up on audition skills, coach for an audition/casting director workshop, or need a reader for a self-tape, I'm happy to help.

About Me:

I'm a native Brooklynite and proud SAG-AFTRA actor working in TV & Film for nearly a decade. I've worked on Succession, Orange is the New Black, Girls, FBI, Blue Bloods, and most recently The Vigil (TIFF & SXSW, Blumhouse and IFC Midnight.) I've trained at The Barrow Group, with Matt Newton and Michael Kostroff (The Wire) and other reputable acting studios across NYC.

Visit natirabinowitz.com for more info about me.

I offer 10 minute free consultations via phone call or zoom as well.

Multi-Class Benefits:

A commitment to working one-on-one for a length of time allows us to focus on really moving the ball forward. We can demystify the audition process, learn how to break down a script, prepare for self-tape auditions, agent meetings, film & TV roles. We can discuss the business, where to go for headshots and how to get your first short film roles.

If you've been doing this a while, let's make sure your demo reel is on point, your audition self-tape setup is right, and your headshots are helping you put your best foot forward as you search for representation or go out for TV roles.
